People at CTG

Shaohui Wang
Visiting Scholar

Specialty

- Use of social media in government
- Implementation of government information openness

Brief Bio

Dr. Shaohui Wang is an associate professor in the School of Political Science and Public Administration, Wuhan University, P. R. China. He is a research fellow at the Center for China's Local Public Service Innovation at Wuhan University and the Center for Network Society Governance at Nankai University. Dr. Wang has hosted or participated in several research projects in China about local government public services innovation, government information openness, and network society governance, among others. He has published several academic papers in the e-government research field.

Currently, Dr. Wang is doing research about how to use social media to promote the innovation of government public services.

Education

- Ph.D. in Information Management, School of Information Management, Wuhan University, P. R. China, 2007
- M.S. in Archival Science, School of Information Management, Wuhan University, P. R. China, 2004
- B.S. in law, School of Law, Zhongnan University of Economics and Law, P. R. China, 1999