Online Resource

e-Gov FirstStop is a Web resource provided by CTG in response to government managers who asked for a central place to find quality information about e-government. This site includes a carefully selected collection of e-government materials including executive-level briefings, research and best practice reports, case studies, and Web sites. All resources included in e-Gov FirstStop are reviewed and selected by e-government practitioners and scholars.

Please note that e-Gov FirstStop was developed as a prototype resource and was operational from April through September of 2002. It has not been updated since September of 2002 and will not be updated in the future. It is temporarily unavailable.
